THE FAMILY PLANNING FOUNDATION

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT FOR THE PERIOD ENDED 31st DECEMBER 1971

On behalf of the Members of the Governing Board, I have pleasure in presenting the first annual report of the Foundation and the audited Statements of Accounts for the period ended 31st December, 1971.

The Foundation was registered as a Society under the Indian Societies Registration Act, 1860, on 12th October 1970. Its aims and objects were described at the time in a brochure entitled "Population Crisis - A Call to Action", which is attached to this Report.

It will be noted that the basic purpose for which the Foundation was created was to assist all non-official efforts in the country willing and anxious to play their part, however small, in the great national task of controlling the growth of our population and helping millions of our people to plan the size of their families.

The principal means by which the Foundation was intended to supplement in a small way the great programme launched by the Government of India, was by undertaking and financing research in one of the most complex problems facing the world in general, and India in particular, and in extending financial assistance to approved family planning programmes undertaken by others. It was realised from the start, in view of the magnitude of the task, that if the Foundation was to make an effective contribution, it should have adequate funds therefore set before themselves an initial task of raising from industrial and business sources a sum as near to Rs.50 lakhs as possible, on the basis of which it was hoped that much larger grants would then become available from Indian and foreign sources. Because of the great demands for funds for relief from calamities such as droughts, floods, cyclones, and for relief of refugees, initial collections have been somewhat slow and up to the 31st December, 1971, total amounts received and committed were only Rs.30,72,600 as per the list attached as annexure to this Report.

The Governing Board wishes to acknowledge with special gratitude the support it has received from the start from the Ford Foundation, who have already made a grant of $100,000, equivalent to about Rs.7.20 lakhs at the new rate of exchange, and who have offered to transfer to the Foundation a career development programme previously sponsored jointly with the Government of India and designed to select and train young Indians, including Indians today working abroad, and utilise them in the field of family planning. Under this project, a further sum of $200,000, or about Rs.14,40 lakhs, would be placed at the disposal of the Family Planning Foundation, with the approval of the Government of India. If this scheme fruitifies, the Foundation will have at its disposal a team of trained young Indian specialists, who would be assigned to Universities, Institutes, private and public sector undertakings on population control and family planning work.

The Governing Board is also most grateful to the Ford Foundation for placing at its disposal two bungalows, free of charge for a year, for accommodating the Executive Director of the Foundation and its office respectively.

In view of the difficulty of raising funds for family planning in the form of voluntary grants within India, the Foundation had from the start intended to seek grants from foreign sources. A number of such sources have been identified which, while interested in contributing to family planning activities in India, would prefer to canalise these grants through a private agency such as the Family Planning Foundation rather than through the Government of India in view of the large funds allocated by them to their family planning programme. Discussions on the subject have been held with the Ministry of Health and Family Planning. While the receipt of foreign aid by private philanthropic institutions in the country is not favoured by Government, they have expressed their willingness to consider on merit any proposal for a foreign grant to this Foundation. As at best there can be relatively few such foreign grants, the Governing Board has decided to approach the Government of India for capital and/or annual grants from PL 480 Counterpart Funds at their disposal, on similar lines as grants that are proposed to be made from the same source to a number of educational and other institutions in the country.

Pending the availability of adequate funds, the Foundation has been unable to fulfil the main objective with which it was created, namely, to undertake research in population control and to render financial assistance to approved projects in the field of family planning. A number of institutions have sent in requests for such assistance and these are at present under evaluation by an Advisory Panel of experts appointed by the Governing Board. It is hoped that, beginning in a small way, the Foundation will, in the coming year, start fulfilling the main role for which it was created.

Staff: Commodore C. Mehta, IN Retired, was appointed on 1st March, 1971, as Secretary of the Foundation, and for the next six months he and an Assistant/Stenographer comprised the only staff of the Foundation. In addition to acting as Secretary, Commodore Mehta also acted as Treasurer for which his experience in administrative-cum-accounting tasks in the Navy fully qualify him.

From the 1st September, 1971, Mr. J.C. Kavoori was appointed as Executive Director of the Foundation. Prior to his appointment to the Foundation, he was, for about 4 years, Executive Director of the Baroda Community Development Service, and before that Director of the Sir V.T. Krishnamachari Institute of Rural Development for nearly ten years. At the time he was approached by the FPF, he was on the point of accepting a Visiting Professorship from one of the American Universities, and the Governing Board considers itself fortunate in having induced him to join the Foundation instead.

Accounts: As will be seen from the annexed accounts from the beginning of its existence the total amount actually received from collections from donors was Rs. 26, 25, 100, from which Rs. 18,00,000 lakks were deposited, with effect from 10th August 1971 with a leading company in India at an interest of 9.5%. The balance has been placed in Savings Account and Current Account with Banks. Up to the end of December 1971, the Foundation has incurred total expenditure of Rs.46204.36 on its establishment, excluding the purchase of an Ambassador car at a cost of Rs.24,200.

Budget for 1972: Pending the emergency of a clearer picture of the funds likely to be available, grants will be made during the year on a modest scale, but the Governing Board hopes that at some time during the year additional funds will enable it to adopt a larger programme of assistance. Until such time, the staff of the Foundation will remain at the present level, or with only very modest additions.

Conclusion: My colleagues and I on the Board are disappointed that the progress made by the Foundation from its inception has been much slower than hoped for. To begin with, it took considerable time to obtain the necessary tax exemptions on grants to the Foundation, which the Board felt essential to induce donors to come forward on a sufficient scale. Thereafter, as explained earlier, the Foundation's plans to secure substantial grants from various sources have had to be held in abeyance pending clarification and, hopefully, reconsideration of Government's views in the matter.

The Board sincerely hoped that, notwithstanding many other demands on their generosity, all those able and willing to support worthy causes will realise that for many years to come none will be more important to the future progress and perhaps even the survival of the nation than the control of the growth of its population. The uncontrolled growth of our population does not merely present problems of food and clothing for the additional population, but also results in an appalling addition to the already severe degree of unemployment in the country and renders impossible any rapid improvement in the standard of living of our people. There is no greater obligation before every Indian, individual or institution, able and willing to help his country and its people, than to make a contribution, however small, to the national cause and task of family planning. Every Rupee offered to the Family Planning Foundation will be gratefully received.
